What is the CN22 form?

The CN22 customs form is required mainly by postal services for sending parcels weighing less than 2 kg and valued up to a certain amount between cross-border countries (e.g. EU and non-EU). The threshold amount differs depending on the country, so it is important to check with your chosen carrier for the latest information.

Although private courier companies like DHL or FedEx do not require the use of CN22 for international shipments, it is still recommended to use this form in some cases. The reason is that the CN22 has a standardised format that customs authorities worldwide recognise, which can simplify the customs clearance process and make it more efficient than non-standardised forms.
